Why highlighting what matters most to you with your care team is important

While controlling your bleeding is essential, maintaining your health is also about your ability to enjoy and get on with life.

When you and your clinician understand what's important to each other, you can make decisions about your care together. Your clinician can then design your care plan with your personal needs, preferences, and goals in mind.

Top tips for using the ITP Discussion Guide for your next consultation

- Usually, our first reaction is the most accurate, so don't spend too much time thinking about your answers, just go with your gut
- Remember that each response will be individual to you, so there is no right or wrong answer
- Use the guide ahead of each appointment to track any changes over time, and let your care team know if your priorities have changed since your last appointment
- Ask for an explanation of anything you don't understand or feel unsure about
- Refer to the guide if you feel like your care priorities aren't being heard
- Don't be afraid to say if you feel like your goals, needs and preferences are not being taken seriously
